Americas Infrastructure Dialogue 2022 – 24th of May, The Harvard Club, NYC:

“US Infrastructure – Green shoots or stunted by headwinds?”

LONDON, May 17, 2022 – The Americas Infrastructure Dialogue returns to New York for its third annual in-person event on the 24th of May 2022 for the most eventful year in the infrastructure industry to date.

The annual event will be coming back on this coming 24th of May at the Harvard Club of New York, where senior industry leaders will gather to discuss the current infrastructure landscape, trends, and investment opportunities in the light of recent developments. At the gathering, participants will find an exclusive platform to gain peer to peer insights, benefit from new business opportunities and shape the future.

It's the most significant year for the infrastructure industry given recent events – including the COVID-19 recovery, the rise in energy and fuel prices following the war in Ukraine, the pressure over newly set energy transition targets at the COP26 summit last November, as well as President Joe Biden's Infrastructure Bill. Therefore, this year's edition promises to be the most fruitful one yet, with more LPs, GPs, fund managers, investors, lenders, developers, owners, and government officials joining than ever.

Gershon Cohen, Global Head of Infrastructure Funds, abrdn, London, UK says about the event: “Infrastructure Dialogue brings together industry leaders, opinion formers and practitioners in an innovative format in which the delegates actively engage with the program participants in a productive environment.”
